A TAME PROCEEDING

Was the Passage by the Senate of the Conference

REPORT ON THE SILVER BILL.

Was Carried by a Strict Party Vote-The The Yeas and Nays in Detail-The Pairs.

Finan to The Hearth).—It was a tame proceeding, the passage by the Senate to day of the conference report on the sliver bill. The report was preceded by a sharp passage at arms between several of the west-sage at arms between several of the owest per Republican Senators which was highly appreciated by their associates on the floor. Mr. Dolph, of Oregon, who is not a free coings man notwithstanding his Pacific single man notwithstanding his Pacific single man notwithstanding his Pacific during roll call. gram to Tue Hrusto | .- It was a tame pro- En Affison and Sherman. Morgan resumed his argument against the conference bill and consular appropriation bill was adopted; yeas, 114; nays, 66.

Funston, of Kansas, submitted, and the House then the same "fine Italian hand" which framed the act of 1873 operated in the conference bill to destroy utterly any tope of the remonstilization of silver so long as it remained unrepealed. He predicted that when others of the conferees came to realize what they had done, they would feel like kicking themselves. statement was challenged and like kicking themselves over a ter acre-field. The bill would monometallize the country, would make gold the only thing with which to pay debts or buy property. The craft of the Senator from Onio could not "after twelve months' consideration" have fixed up a bill that would more thoroughly destroy silver for ever as

Morgan spoke for three hours and closed with an appeal to the Scentors not to allow the Senator from Ohio (Sherman) to thrust Call also argued against the conference report.

Plumb spoke in its favor. The conference bill would give the country as much money during the next year as free coinage would give. The bill was a long step in the right direction, "It is my belief if the bill becomes law, so nicely and ceasily will it work and so helpful will it be to all the people of the United States that the next step will be free coinage." He would vote for the conference bill, regretting it is to better, glad it is no worfe.

Why, lies on a free ballot and a fair count. Why, a fair count could not be obtained even in the House. He then proceeded to quote from and comment upon Speaker Reed's article in the North American Review on contested elections. He regarded the article as an apology for the elections committee. Commenting on the fact that recently scated members voted for the federal election till, he said he was reminded of the scriptural quotation, "Well done, thou good and faithful servent; enter thou into the service of the Lord," pointing to the speaker.

VIENNA, July 10 .- A ball and fete were given by the Kexholm regiment at St. Petersbury in honor of Marie Kexhelmskala a few days ago, which greatly interested the Emperer of Austria. During the Russo-Turkisa war a private in the Kexholm regiment when in Buigaria found a little Turkish girl about four years old, who had been abandoned by her father and mother. The soldier took the little one to his officers who resolved to adopt her. The chia, who was suffering for want of food, soon recovered and told her protectors that her name was Aish. When the regiment returned to Warsaw the officers resolved to take the best care of the girl. They imposed upon themselves an income tax of 1 per cent. London, July 10 .- Notwithstanding the fact that the Postmen's union decided last night that a strike be inangurated to-day postoffice be dismissed, the carriers, as a body, this morning resumed their duties, their leaders having advised them that the present was not an opportune time to attempt to enferce their demands. A small number of malcontents did not report for duty. The postoffice authorities state they have applications from men desiring postulons sufficient to fill all vacancies. Twe bundred parcels postmen have been dismissed. A number of non-union postmen are working with union postmen; non unionists are protected by policemen. The union postmen seem to be weakening. De livery of letters in a few stations is sus pended this morning; in other sections de liveries were delayed two hours. ostoffice be dismissed, the carriers, as a
